321.3 POLICY DIRECTIVES AND REQUIRED PROCEDURES

The statements contained within the .3 section of this ADS chapter are the official Agency policies and corresponding essential procedures.

321.3.1 Small Business

Section 602(a) of the FAA stipulates three ways in which the Agency shall assist small businesses. These are:

- a. By making information available to suppliers in the United States, and particularly to small independent enterprises, as far in advance as possible, with respect to purchases proposed to be financed;
- b. By making available to prospective purchasers in the countries and areas receiving assistance information about the goods and services produced and sold by small independent enterprises in the United States; and
- c. By providing additional services to give small business better opportunities to participate in the furnishing of commodities, articles, and services financed by USAID.

321.3.1.1 Procurement Information Bulletins

The Bureau for Management, Office of Procurement, Transportation and Commodity Division (M/OP/TC) shall publish a USAID Procurement Information Bulletin to announce new commodity import agreements. The announcements include a list of authorized commodities, delivery and contract periods, and the USAID organizational unit to be contacted for additional information.

321.3.1.2 Announcements of Host Country Contract Procurements

- a. For equipment and material contracts in excess of $100,000, a synopsis briefly describing the nature and destination of equipment and material to be purchased shall be published in the USAID Procurement Information Bulletins, in addition to the Commerce Business Daily. Specification and other data on "small value" procurement in excess of $25,000 are published in the USAID Procurement Information Bulletin.
- b. For technical and professional services of $100,000 or more that are not to be performed by a single individual, notice of availability of prequalification questionnaires or of Requests for Technical Proposals, if prequalification is not used, shall be published in the Commerce Business Daily. In addition, whenever procurement services are being contracted for and the fee for the services is expected to be in excess of $25,000, notice of the proposed procurement is published in the USAID Procurement Information Bulletin.

321.3.2 Set-Asides and Screening Procedures

Under direct contracting procedures set forth in FAR Part 19 and AIDAR Part 719 requirements can be identified for contracting in whole or in part exclusively with small business firms and are publicized in the Commerce Business Daily as "small business set-asides." Requirements can also be identified for award to an economically or socially disadvantaged firm certified under Section 8(a) of the Small Business Act.

Procedures for screening procurements by OSD/BU/MRC for possible small business set-asides or 8(a) procurements are established in AIDAR 719.271-6. (See AIDAR 719.271-6)

321.3.3 Minority Serving Institutions (MSIs)

The program entitled "Expanding the Participation of Minority Serving Institutions" provides authority to reserve grants or cooperative agreements exclusively for competition among Minority Serving Institutions (MSIs) [consisting of Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs), Hispanic Serving Institutions (HSIs) and Tribal Colleges and Universities (TCUs)]. When Bureaus, Missions, or other operating units identify activities for which grants or cooperative agreements to one or more MSIs would be an appropriate means of implementation, competition may be limited to MSIs without further approval. (See 303.3.6.1, Competition Requirements.) This program does not authorize limiting competition to any particular category of MSIs.

Information about international capabilities, interests and experience of HBCUs and HSIs is available on USAID's website at www.usaid.gov/G/HCD. Information on TCUs and other MSIs is available from the Minority On-Line Information System (MOLIS) website at www.fie.com/molis.

When a competition for assistance awards is to be limited to MSIs, the policy in 321.3.2

must be referenced in the Request for Applications or other document advertising the proposed awards. (See 321.3.2)

Competitions limited to MSIs shall be advertised on USAID's Internet and on MOLIS as well. E-mail the MSI Coordinator, in the Office of General Counsel to make arrangements to announce opportunities for grants or cooperative agreements on MOLIS.
